

Who we are

The AIJA is a research and educational institute established in 1976.

The Institute is funded by the Council of Attorneys-General (CAG), donations and membership subscriptions.

The Institute's approximately 500 strong membership is drawn from all around Australia and New Zealand.

“The Institute, uniquely, brings together the perspectives of all those who are involved in the administration of justice, whether judges and magistrates, court administrators, academic lawyers or those from the practising profession”

The Hon Justice Patrick Keane AC, former AIJA President

What we do

- Research The Institute has published widely on matters of justice, as well as on associated subjects such as case management, cultural awareness, judicial ethics, technology and the courts, complex criminal trials and cross-vesting legislation.
- Education The Institute is recognised for its work in developing courses in specialised areas such as gender awareness, cultural awareness, court technology and case management. It also organises one or more major conferences each year on issues of legal and social significance.

Join

Membership is open to anyone with an interest in the administration of justice. Members are offered reduced fees to attend conferences and educational programs as well as networking opportunities and international contacts.

Those with a particular interest in our work include:

- Government lawyers and policy makers
- Academics and students
- Tribunal members
- Court administrators
- Judges and all other judicial officers
- Legal practitioners
- Retired judicial officers
- Court librarians

Individual, corporate and sponsored memberships are available, apply overleaf.
